

Being a Godly Example to Remnant Churches

For the Spirit of the Lord would say tonight to this church, that He is looking for Godly examples of last day's churches. For, many of you have stood and wondered, "how can a church act this way," or, "how can that church conduct themselves in this manner?" Many of you, in this day, have stood and been confused and bewildered, as you've looked about the region and about the land and said, "How could they have ever allowed that into their church? How could they have ever embraced that for their congregation?" But the Lord would say to you tonight, "They've never been taught any different. They've never been shown a better way. They've just done what they've seen others do. They've just been taught by others that do not know how to conduct themselves according to the Word of God."

So the Lord says tonight, "I'm looking for examples. Churches that will be examples to churches in this land. Remnant churches that will be examples to other churches, that they might become remnant churches. That they might come back, as it were, into the fold. That they might come back, as it were, into the things of purity. The pureness of the doctrine of God. Such a church demonstrates and exemplifies the excellence of Jesus Christ."

So the Lord says, "Do not look about and wonder how they got there. Do something about it! Make a difference in this land! Be a demonstration to them! Be the salt and the light that not only have I commanded you to be, but I've equipped you to be. And cause those wandering churches to become remnant churches. Call them back in," saith God. "They want to come, but many just do not know how."

So the Lord says this tonight, "Show them the way. Show them the path. Lead them into that path. Demonstrate for them the excellency of the Gospel. Make a definitive stand in this day," saith God. "And publicize that to them. That they might have an example, a Godly example, a Heaven sent example. For they want to be told how to do it right. They just don't know. So help set them free," saith the Lord of Hosts. Hallelujah.
